

Avoid the “Drama Triangle”

- People naturally use descriptive stories to describe work problems
- Our stories often have a victim, hero, and villain
- With these corner perspectives, it is hard to address the real problem (the middle)
- Discuss workplace issues without placing people in corners
- Help people recognize when they are ‘cornered’
- Stay in the middle!

